

Hancock County School Board adopts uniform policy

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

An effort that began approximately four years ago to implement school uniforms for the 2003-2004 school year.

Peggy Ladner, the school board president, said the district first looked into school uniforms in 1999 by conducting a district-wide survey, which revealed that 74 percent of the parents were in favor of school uniforms.

"Since I've been on the board it has been an on-again, off-again topic of discussion," she said. "Watching the neighboring districts and using them as test subjects, we learned from their failures and successes (which) helped us to finally put together a policy that we anticipate being successful."

Ladner said there were several factors that prompted the board to create this policy.

A major contributing factor was that the policy was constituency driven, she said. Others included the need to reduce discipline referrals, enhance school safety and reduce apparent socio-economic differences among the students, "which is a main concern of our parents," Ladner said.

"We know that a uniform policy is not a cure-all, and (the board) doesn't expect it to alleviate all problems, but based on the successes of our neighboring school districts, after an initial period of adjustment, we expect to achieve most of our goals," she said.

After working in the middle school and high school for three years, Ladner said she saw some serious problems.

"The inappropriate attire worn in the school environment, the lack of modesty in our students' attire and the distractions it creates needs to be addressed," she said. "This policy will provide a more consistent, unified manner of dress which will make it easier for the staff to spot the infractions and the problems. Also, as a parent whose children wore uniforms prior to coming to public school, uniforms were much less expensive and upkeep was easier. Having uniforms was just simpler in every aspect."

Both Morgan Ladner and Larry Seal, board members who took office in January of this year, voted "yes" to the uniform policy as well.

Ladner said he conducted an informal survey of his own by simply talking with parents. He discovered that an "overwhelming majority want uniforms."

He also spoke with parents of students in private schools within the district about their children's uniforms.

They informed him that the children look neater, expenses are lower and uniforms eliminate arguments in the morning over what to wear.

"I believe there will be fewer distractions, more structure and increased pride (with uniforms)," he said. Seal said he also talked with many people in and out of the district and found mixed reviews.

"Parents tend to favor them due to reduced costs and upkeep," he said. "I heard one argument that we are constantly taking freedoms from our students. It is not my position to turn the school into a boot camp, but I would like to see the schools maintain some symbol of structure, and I think the student body looks better as a whole."

He did hear one teacher's point that the system is already quite regimented and this would probably create more discipline problems; however, he said, neighboring districts did have initial discipline problems which eventually reduced.

"The students still have the option of wearing what they want on their own time, but having them dress appropriately in designated attire while they are in a learning environment is not too much to ask," he said.

"When these young people eventually do enter the workforce, they may be required to dress a certain way whether it be with a hard-hat, a chef's toque, a business suit or a police uniform, its never too early to condition them for the change."

Larry Peterson was the only board member who adamantly opposed the policy.

"I don't think we need (uniforms)," he said. "We don't have many dress code problems now. It seems senseless to me."

Fellow board member Cheryl Bennett was not totally convinced of the policy; however, she joined Ladner, Ladner and Seal. "Although I voted 'yes,'

I'm not 100 percent sure it's what the people want," she said. "I don't think we've had enough public input. Only time will tell."

Bennett said the policy would be a good thing if it is administratively enforced and if there is a majority of buy-in from the public to make it successful.

Peggy Ladner believes the policy will be successful if properly executed by all involved.

"If implemented in the proper manner and interpreted in the spirit for which this policy is intended, it should promote a more effective climate for learning with fewer discipline referrals allowing the teachers more time to focus on instruction," she said. "It should improve school safety and security, and help reduce the apparent socio-economic differences among the students. There are many other school districts that have made this work and have experienced these successes."

The new policy lists certain styles and selected colors of clothing as acceptable. For example, shirts and blouses must be button down with either a Peter Pan/rounded collar or an Oxford/pointed collar. Navy blue or white will be required shirt colors for all schools. Each school, however, will have additional colors. East Hancock will have Kelly green, Gulfview, Charles B. Murphy and Hancock North Central will have red and Hancock High and Hancock Middle will both have red and royal blue.

Clothing requirements follow the same guidelines throughout the policy. A complete listing of the requirements will be included in next year's student handbook.

Districts -- re-warding

ary lines. Farve is the only black on a four-ward council. The problem council faced wasn't just the black-white breakdown in any ward, however. All four wards should have approximately the same number of residents, to meet federal one-man, one-vote standards.

The "ideal" number in each ward is 2,052, city officials say. Ward 3's total population was counted at 1553, officials said, or about 24 percent below the correct number. Adjacent Ward 4, meanwhile, has almost 19 percent more residents than the ideal number.

That means Ward 3 needed another 500 residents, while Ward 4 has 388 too many, city calculations show. Ward 1 also is out-of-whack with 270 more residents than it needs. Ward 2, meanwhile, has 160 fewer than it should have.

But Mayor Eddie Favre said earlier that there's almost no chance that the city could redraw Ward 3's lines to equalize it, without evaporating its standing as a black majority ward. In one scenario of re-mapping, the ward's black population would slip to a very tenuous majority. In other re-mapping plans to boost the total number of residents, the black majority would disappear altogether, the mayor said.

Favre has said the Justice Department might value the idea of having a black ward so much that it will allow the hefty population discrepancies involved.

With municipal elections two years away, Favre said the city would have time to go back to the drawing board, if federal officials insist on a redistricting plan. "If they kick it out, so be it," the mayor said before the formal submission to the Justice Department.

City Council acknowledged receipt of the Justice letter last week, with little comment.

In other business, however, there was lively discussion. Council voted 4-1 to approve a special subdivision of a large tract at 720 Dunbar Street, capping a four-year debate over the future of property owned by Ernest W. Drackett Jr. As it stands, Drackett or a future owner will be able to develop the rear portion of the tract for any use allowed in R-3 zoning, including apartments.

The property has been before the city's Planning and Zoning Commission and City Council repeatedly in recent years, usually attracting a large turnout of neighbors to argue against multi-family development abutting Esplanade and Highland avenues.

Monday, Ward 1 council member Doug Seal had urged that council attach a long list of "stipulations" to the subdivision, including a provision that only a single family residence could be built on the newly subdivided tract.

Stuart Henderson, who is negotiating for purchase of the property, said he doesn't know what he plans to build on it, if anything. But, Henderson also said he shouldn't be restricted from building anything that the zoning code allows.

City attorney John Scafide said a property owner "as a matter of right" can subdivide property if its dimensions meet the city's code, without further restrictions. A web of regulations then govern how the property is developed.

In the case of the Dunbar tract, he added, there are significant challenges to meet the existing development regulations. But, he also said, council shouldn't attach "stipulations" to dividing the tract as the code already allows.

Seal's insistence that the tract be used only for a single family residence reflected concerns in the neighborhood over the future development possibilities. He voted against allowing the subdivision, despite Scafide's recommendation and the recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Officials said the action will leave the front tract, which faces Dunbar, with dimensions of 60 feet by 312 feet, containing a small house. The newly created rear lot (60 by 550 feet) will have a 20-foot-wide access route from Dunbar.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Veterans Day

On Tuesday, November 11, America celebrates Veterans Day. This is a day for all veterans to be remembered.

Through the efforts of veterans, we today have the freedoms we enjoy.

Many of our veterans lay in graves thousands of miles from home, while the remains of many have never been found. Today

American men and women are stationed across the World, and they too need to be remembered.

Thank a Veteran Today

Almost every day you see it in the obituaries of this newspaper - another veteran has passed away.

In some papers, their last records are marked with an American flag, just to remind us that they gave a little extra during their lives. Even more than career accomplishments or the families they created - they also served their country. Our veterans, from old to young, deserve this honor and much more. They deserve our thanks on

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

this Veterans Day week and as long as they live.

The World War II and Korean War vets in particular are leaving us rapidly. Nationwide, thousands of them depart this world for the next each week. Yet, the freedom they helped secure for us 50 or 60 years ago is still with us, alive and vibrant. Thanks to them we cannot imagine life without our freedom. We can worship as we please. We can pick our career, and choose our associates. We can live where we want and say what we want.

When is the last time you thanked a veteran - in your family, at work, at school, at church or maybe even next door - for the life of liberty you enjoy? They may not always want to talk much about their experiences, but I can assure you they will appreciate your gesture of gratitude. Even decades after their sacrifice, your thanks makes a difference. It reaffirms to them that all those difficult challenges, all those trying days and nights, all those terrible losses, preserved America and our freedom, and that their sacrifice is appreciated.

America is again fighting those who threaten freedom - terrorists in Iraq and Afghanistan. Just as in World War II, Korea, Vietnam, Grenada, Panama, Kuwait, Somalia and the Balkans, America's military men and women are fighting again, standing between the American people and scores of enemies who want to kill us just because we are free. Even when the last veteran of World War II, Korea or Vietnam departs us, there will still be veterans to thank. As long as America is free, freedom will always require a defense.

Leave handicapped spaces for people who need them

Handicapped parking spaces are reserved for those handicapped, period.

Over the years I have received numerous complaints about unhandicapped motorists parking in handicapped parking spaces.

This just seems to be an ongoing problem and it is really unfair for folks who are handicapped.

Smaller businesses may only have one handicapped parking space while larger ones have several. This is a problem not only in Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, or Waveland, but just about every community.

Thursday evening I received a telephone call from a friend, who said he witnessed a person with a handicapped license tag having to circle Waveland Walmart's parking lot trying to find a vacant handicapped parking space. Now Walmart because of its size has provided many special parking spaces for those who need and deserve them.

This friend, said to himself, I am just going to check to see if the handicapped parking spaces were full of vehicles with handicapped tags, or notices in their vehicles.

Well, I think you have guessed it, he only saw one vehicle with a handicapped tag. The rest were filled with able bodied folks.

Come on folks, one day those who violate the rights of those needing handicapped parking space, may find themselves in the same situation.

Handicapped parking is clearly marked for handicapped folks.

My friend did see a young couple in a large SUV park in one of the handicapped spaces and said they looked like they were in the 20's. Anyway, he said a big SUV would be hard for a handicapped person to get in and out of.

Many of the vehicles my friend noticed had Hancock tags on them while a few had out-of-county and state.

I know if police start issuing citations there would be a cry of motorists being picked on, but, who knows, maybe the word would get out if a few citations were issued.

SHOWING THE GOVERNOR-ELECT AROUND

Bush should address his homeland first

To whom it may concern,

I'm a single parent of three plus a grandmother. It's not like I haven't set goals in my household but things do happen.

I'm so mad at the system that suppose to be helping us but instead with me only making $7 an hour, they had the nerve to cut me off Medicaid. I pay $475 a month plus lights and water. If our President would stop sending over the money that needs to be addressed to his own homeland then we would not be in this shape.

And it's so sad around voting time. That's when they all promise what they will do and when they get in, it's all about money for themselves.

Where is the justice here. All Bush is doing is killing our kids and laughing in the background. I bet none of his people is over there.

Sincerely,

That defense will continue to require sacrifice - giving of time, energy, and even sometimes life itself.

As your Senator, I don't take Veterans Day lightly. I can't, because I see the difficulty of their sacrifice so often.

Being your Senator requires me to make very difficult decisions, especially about our national defense and the preservation of our freedom. These decisions often lead to putting our military men and women in harm's way. When that happens, Mississippians are always at the forefront defending liberty.

Two Mississippians have been killed while serving in Iraq this week. We should remember these families especially in our prayers right now. I try to make telephone calls to the family of each Mississippian killed in action and extend heartfelt condolences on behalf of our state and nation.

I'll tell you forthrightly, that isn't easy. It regularly reminds me of the price of freedom and the magnitude of what veterans and their fallen comrades have done for this country. It's something all Americans should often ponder.

—Somewhere in Iraq or Afghanistan right now, an American soldier - a veteran - is putting his or her life on the line, enduring separation from family, friends and everything he or she holds dear, to protect and preserve our freedom.

We should pray for them, and, when they get home, we need to thank them, too - not just on Veterans Day, but as much as we can.

Americans should never waste an opportunity to thank those fellow Americans who saved our lives, even before some of us were born.

Veterans bought our liberty and asked for little in return.

On this special Veterans week, thank a veteran for your life of freedom. Go to a Veterans Day parade. Thank them privately.

Say a prayer for them - whatever you can do. Don't wait for their obituary in this newspaper. Our veterans deserve better than that.

Heroes -- Veterans Day

Dennie Abney as he looked in 1968, outside of Saigon, during the Vietnam War.

Dennie Abney, now at 56. Like many of his contemporaries, the experience left him forever a changed man. Being split at on his return home, was one of the most heartbreaking experiences.

Wayne Didier, 70, left, spent 26 years in the Air Force, serving as an assistant crew chief and flight engineer in the Korean War. John Rehm, 56, served in Vietnam and still suffers from the ill health effects of his exposure to agent orange.

at a K-9 base.

His job was to service the planes as they left for and returned from bombing missions. He remembers the country as a dirty place, but more modern than many may imagine with many cities and a mountainous terrain. The gorilla forces would attack the base from the surrounding mountains, he said.

He also remembers performing mock invasion maneuvers and being approached by San pans while performing the maneuvers. The San pans were small Korean boats. We didn't have any weapons and had to call for them. When they brought the weapons, they didn't bring any ammunition and we had to call back for that, Didier said.

After Korea, Didier finished his overseas tour in Japan.

Dennie Abney and John Rehm both did tours of duty in Vietnam. Abney as an E-5 "Buck" Sergeant in the Army from late 1967 till early 1969 and Rehm, first as an A-3 and then as an A-4 in the Navy in 1965 and 66.

On Vietnamese New Year's Day, January 31, 1968 Vietnamese commandos began a full scale attack on virtually every city in South Vietnam. The Tet offensive came as a surprise attack on most every front, the season of Tet being one of the most important holiday seasons for the Vietnamese people, celebrating the coming of spring and the new year and a traditional time of truce.

Both Abney and Rehm were in Vietnam, Abney serving near Saigon and Rehm having the unfortunate luck of being back in Vietnam as a merchant marine. Abney remembers spending two days in a bunker and Rehm nearly that long using a garbage can for shelter as near non stop fighting went on across the south, planes dropping record numbers of bombs. The Tet offensive is credited by many as being the pivotal event that threw American popular opinion to the side of putting an end to what appeared to be an unwinnable war.

Life in the war zone was everything you have seen in the movies multiplied for the worse many times over, both men agreed. The horrors people heard about were real and much worse, they said, about fighting in the tiny country where leader HoChi Min had been college educated at Harvard. To make his point Rehm shared a story about his first day in Vietnam.

"The first day I remember seeing kids playing soccer in the street and I realized that the ball they were playing with was a man's head," said Rehm. "Things got worse from there."

There were bodies everywhere and it was not unusual to use one as a seat to sit on while having lunch, Rehm said. Both men remember a boat that was nicknamed Juicy Lucy that trolled the river with large paddles that would gather up the bodies floating there to bring them to shore to be buried or burned. Death was as common as coffee in the morning and it came in ways too horrible to mention here.

Statistics tell us that about 60,000 Americans lost their lives in Vietnam. But another 313, 616 were injured, half of them seriously, with about 10,000 losing limbs. Altogether, about 2.7 million served in the various branches of the military. Statistics for the Vietnamese were even more staggering with about 3.3 million killed and more than 2 million wounded for both the north and south.

Many Americans who were not listed as officially injured came home to develop serious health problems as a result of exposure to an exfolient used in the jungles, agent orange, Rehm said, he himself a victim of the substance he describes as a million times more powerful than Round-up.

The VA recognizes many diseases ranging from cancers to neurological problems, to birth defects in children of ex-servicemen, that could be a result of exposure to agent orange and the dioxins that are its bi-product. Obtaining treatment can be a long and frustrating experience because proving exposure is nearly impossible, though massive amounts of the toxin was poured on the jungles and everything in it. Rehm says he has experienced only frustration in trying to obtain treatment from the VA.

So as horrible as the experiences in combat were, the word of the lack of support at home, and the actual homecomings were even worse, said the men.

"We didn't know why we were there and many times who the enemy was. I knew was there fighting to protect freedom, but it was a political war designed to boost the economy," said Abney. "But I was paid to do the things that I did and I was paid by every American citizen and I can only hope that God can forgive me for some of them."

"When I was coming home in Los Angeles a woman spit in my face," he said. "I was yelled at and called a baby killer."

In spite of the experience, both men said they would do it again if they were asked, and for the same reason they both went, with good intentions, the first time around; to protect our freedom. In spite of the long reaching effects that both the Korean War and the Vietnam War had on millions, who served and who waited at home, the two wars are still commonly recognized by many as only police actions.

Attend the Hancock County Greenways Reception

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Hancock County Chamber's Community Development Committee will host a reception for the Hancock County Greenways Project on November 10th from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. at Pavilion Number 3 located at Buccaneer State Park.

"This is the third reception we have hosted for this project," said Committee Chairman Ron Magee. "We're excited about this reception because we will unveil design elements that will provide public access to Greenways site throughout the county."

The Hancock County Greenways Project was funded through a Coastal Impact Assistance Program Grant from the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. The mission of the Greenways Project is to identify a network of existing and potential open space and recreational space locations throughout the Cities of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County and develop a network of trails, between these points.

"Ultimately this project will enhance the quality of life in Hancock County, while preserving and protecting water quality," said Ron Magee. "Greenways themselves can capture, hold and filter rainwater to capture some nonpoint source pollution or stormwater runoff. But providing people an opportunity to enjoy open space, either by walking or by more intensive recreational use of the open space promotes a greater awareness and appreciation of the environment"

If you have questions, or would like to join the planning committee, please call Sue Chamberlain at 493-1147.

Although our orthopedic unit is new, the structure for our practice has been around for centuries.

Just as it takes a skeleton to support the human body, a healthcare system needs the right professionals to support the practice of a medical specialty. At Garden Park Medical Center, orthopedic patients receive all the support they need to return to an optimal level of functioning, thanks to our new orthopedic unit. Our multi-disciplinary approach, with 12 orthopedic surgeons on staff, specially trained nurses, technologists and physical therapists, and our full-service radiology and surgery departments, emphasizes the connection between healing and having all the right resources at hand.

Don't

Don't spend too much time in mourning
Tears are for the sad
I left to be with Jesus
And this should make you glad.

Don't waste your hours in grieving
No need to feel distress
I'm tired of life's frustrations
And had to get some rest.

Don't vex yourself with questions
Or try to reason why
Life here for me has ended
It came my time to die.

Don't lose the Love I gave you
Feed it with your care
Grow it with devotion
And spread it everywhere.

Don't fret because my leaving
Came in such a way
We'll have another meeting
In God's eternal day.

President Bush awards National Medal of Technology to DuPont

DuPont, on Wednesday, November 6, was awarded the National Medal of Technology, the highest honor for technological innovation in the United States, for technology and policy leadership in the phaseout and replacement of ozone-depleting chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs).

President George W. Bush presented the medal to DuPont Chairman and CEO Chad Holliday at a ceremony in the East Room of the White House. DuPont is the only company ever to receive this prestigious award twice.

President Bush lauded the National Medal of Technology laureates and said, "These men and women embody the spirit of American innovation and ingenuity. They have set a standard of excellence widely admired by their peers."

"DuPont is a science company that focuses its efforts on providing societal and shareholder value while reducing environmental impact," Holliday said. "We are honored to be recognized for our role in addressing and helping resolve one of the most challenging environmental issues the world has faced."

DuPont led global research to gain scientific understanding of the environmental impact of CFCs, commonly used for refrigeration and air conditioning, among other applications. DuPont then led industry in the development of a series of alternatives for use in new and existing equipment.

"All a scientist can ever ask is for people to be fair, to listen to what we know, how we know it, and be objective in dealing with the information. In my own experience, nobody has done that better than DuPont on the ozone depletion issue," said Susan Solomon, atmospheric scientist and 1999 recipient of the National Medal of Science for her work on ozone depletion.

"DuPont approached the issue with care, asked fair questions and, most importantly, they listened to the answers. DuPont has taken a scientific view, maybe the best word is a dignified view, to this very challenging issue," she said.

The challenge was to develop products that could be used in existing air conditioning and refrigeration equipment, avoiding the societal disruption and expense of developing wholly new technology. In the United States alone, that equipment base totaled more than $135 billion, including 150 million automobile and small truck air

Presidential honor

DuPont Chairman and CEO Chad Holliday receives the National Medal of Technology from President George W. Bush at the White House Thursday, November 6. conditioning systems, 80,000 building chillers, and 69 million home refrigerators.

DuPont operates a plant at DeLisle in west Harrison County. The plant, which began operations in 1979 and employs approximately 1,000 persons, uses state-of-the-art technology in the manufacture of titanium dioxide, a pigment used in paints, plastics, textiles, foods and other products as a whitening or brightening agent.

Bay Library begins extended hours

Weekday hours at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library have been extended, according to Prima Plauché, Hancock County Library System director. The new hours began November 3.

Plauché said the new hours are based on surveys of library customers and several focus groups. The purpose of the surveys and focus groups was to lay the groundwork for a new long-range plan, now that the system has completed four new larger buildings within the last seven years.

The library system's budgets for the last two fiscal years have reflected two major goals: providing longer hours and replacing the library's automated computer system. "Although the library system's budget requests were not fully funded," said Plauché, "the library staff and administration feel a strong commitment to our library customers."

"During the past month, the library staff at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library developed a plan to increase the headquarters library hour's to ten hours a day: Monday through Thursday, nine hours on Friday and seven hours on Saturday," she continued. The centralized services office opens from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week and five hours a week are spent on shutting down the automated system, backing it up and performing maintenance after public hours. This brings the total staff hours at the headquarters branch to 66 hours per week.

"Increased hours means increased overhead. And, even after closing, the public uses our meeting rooms, and, in the case of the headquarters library, the five air conditioning units must maintain temperatures and humidity control to protect our books from damage," Plauché emphasized.

"These hours can only be guaranteed through June 30, 2004, when we will re-evaluate our budget."

The new hours of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library are Monday through Thursday from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Speed dooms SSC in 38-16 playoff loss to Quitman

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The old adage of "Speed kills" still rings true as the Quitman Panthers ran around and past the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws for a 38-16 first round state playoff victory in between the walls' at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex.

The loss ended the Rocks season with a 5-6 overall record after posting a second place finish in Division 8 Class 4A. The game was the first home playoff game for St. Stanislaus since the state went to the current playoff format in 1981. It was also the Rocks' fourth overall playoff appearance and second consecutive one.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann commented, "Speed! Speed! Speed! They had a lot of it and we don't have much. You cannot coach speed. Quitman is a very good football team. Our passing game was off tonight and we had trouble establishing our running game against them. We would get a nice gain and then lose it back on the next play. You cannot do that against a good football team. We knew we had to keep it out of their hands and we were not able to do that tonight. I am proud of our players and our coaching staff. The staff of Mark Logan, Stan Dellenger, Stace McRaney, Brian Keys, Stu Rayborn, Andy Kivlan, Bruce Morreale, Dave Boos, and Eric Hoffer did a fine job this year. Our players did a fine job. We had a good group of seniors who helped teach our younger guys. Now, it is time to get back to work for next season."

The Rocks opened the game on offense. SSC got two first downs on consecutive passes of 10 and 11 yards from Tim Kulikowski to Floyd Dedeaux. Kulikowski followed the passes with a 10-yard scramble. However, the drive stalled as the running game sputtered. The Rocks turned the ball over on downs to the Panthers at the Quitman 37 yardline.

The Panthers followed the hard running of Mike McLendon who gained 18 yards and a first down on his first carry of the night. He added runs of 9, 6, 2, 5 and 3 yards on the 10-play drive. The final carry resulted in a Panther touchdown with 3:09 left in the opening quarter. Eli Lowry connected on the PAT to make the score 7-0.

The Rocks sputtered on offense on the ensuing drive and had to punt away. Randy Carter fielded Michael Kivlan's 42-yard punt and burst up the sideline for a 72-yard return for a touchdown with 1:14 left in the first quarter. Lowry converted on the PAT to make the score 14-0.

The Rocks took the ensuing kickoff to their own 30-yardline. The Rocks went to the airwaves on the first play from scrimmage. Kulikowski hit a streaking Michael Cure for a 57-yard gain down to the Quitman 13 yardline. Kulikowski connected with Brock Kelly for another six yards. On the following play, Cure broke free from a Panther defensive back for a 7-yard scoring pass from Kulikowski with :09 left in the first quarter. Kivlan connected on the PAT to make the score 14-7.

The two teams traded the next two possessions as each team had to punt away. Following the SSC punt, Quitman put the ball on the ground and SSC line-backer Mike Deifik fell on it. The Rocks had the ball at the Quitman 24 yardline. Kivlan eventually came on and kicked a 41-yard field goal with 8:17 left in the half to make the score 14-10. The Panthers mounted a 14-play drive on their next possession. Quitman, again, relied on McLendon to do most of the work. He had carries of 2, 3, 4, 5, 4, and 4. In between carries, a 33-yard pass from Justin Holloman to Carter kept the drive alive for the Panthers. The final carry for McLendon on the drive turned out to be a 4-yard score with 1:38 left in the first half. Lowry converted on the PAT to make the score 21-10.

The Rocks struggled on the ensuing possession and had to punt back to the Panthers. Quitman took over at their own 23 yardline. McLendon ripped off a 29-yard gain followed by Carter with a 37-yard gain. McLendon added another six yards to bring the ball down to the Rock 5 yardline. Lowry nailed a 22-yard field goal two plays later as time expired for a 24-10 halftime lead. The Panthers started on offense in the second half. However, they were only on offense for one-play as McLendon broke free for a 56-yard sprint to the endzone with 11:45 left in the third quarter. Lowry connected on the PAT to make the score 31-10.

Hoda ripped off runs of 9 and 4 yards for a first down on the Rocks' next possession before SSC was intercepted to end the drive.

The Panthers went back to work from the Rock 35 yardline. The St. Stanislaus defense came alive and held the Panthers out of the endzone during their 9-play drive. The defense was led by Jordan Ellis, Mike Cure, JC Brignone, Travis Morris, and others. Lowry attempted a 27-yard field goal that missed wide left and short with 5:41 left in the third.

The Rocks' offensive woes continued on the next drive as they were thrown for a loss of 10 yards following a gain of 8 yards on two plays. SSC punted the ball away and the Panthers took over in Rock-a-chaw territory at the 45 yardline.

Three consecutive carries by McLendon of 30, 10 and 3 yards brought the ball down to the Rock 2 yardline. Sam Parks scored on the next play from 2 yards out with 1:46 left in the third quarter. Lowry kicked the PAT and the score was 38-10. The Rock offense got moving on the next series with an 11-yard run by the bruising fullback Matt Hoda for a first down. Kulikowski followed that run with 24-yard pass to Dedeaux for another first down and the Rocks were on the move. But, disaster struck as the Rocks fumbled on the next play at the end of a 16-yard gain.

Even though the Rocks fumbled the ball away, the Rock defense got it right back for the offense. Stefan Sofianos recovered a Quitman ball that touched the turf. Incomplete passes doomed the Rocks on their next series and SSC turned the ball over on downs.

The Rock defense held the Panther offense on the next series led by Dusty Hoffpaur, Klein, Spencer Ziegler, and Cure. SSC was able to get the ball back at the Rock 49 yardline.

Kulikowski hit Cure for a 15-yard gain and a first down. Hoda bulldozed his way up the middle for a 35-yard gain down to the Panther 1 yardline. On the next play, Hoda crossed the goaline for the 1-yard score with 5:38 left in the game. A bad snap resulted in a failed PAT which left the score 38-16.

The Rock defense held the Panthers at bay on the next possession forcing a turnover on downs. SSC tried a little trickery to get on the board before time expired. A double-reverse throwbackpass from Kulikowski to Cure was good for 42 yards. Two plays later, Kivlan attempted a 57-yard field goal that had the distance but missed wide left leaving the score 38-16. The Panthers ran the final seconds off the clock to end the game and the Rocks' season. Quitman advances to the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs to play George County.

McLendon led the Panthers on the ground with 26 carries for 232 yards and three scores as the team rushed for 330 yards. Hoda was the leading ground gainer for SSC with 62 yards and a score on 9 carries. Cure had 4 catches for 127 yards and a score while Dedeaux had 5 catches for 71 yards. Kulikowski threw for 212 yards on 14-for-32 passing. Defensively, the Rocks were led by Lee Klein with 17 total stops and Jordan Ellis with 13 hits.

Hawks show heart in season-ending 42-28 loss

BY DWAYNE BREMER
Contributing Writer

High school sports is not always about winning and losing. For the young men of Hancock High School, the tears that flowed after Friday night's 42-28 loss to Hattiesburg were not because of a losing effort, but the fact that this was the last game that many of these kids will ever play.

After a tumultuous season, the Hawks found themselves down 28-0 early in the second quarter to the Hattiesburg Tigers. With nothing else to play for except pride, the Hawks rose up and showed that they were winners no matter what the score.

"They never quit, and that showed our senior leadership. We deserved a better fate this season, this was a special group of seniors, and I'm going to miss all of them greatly," said Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Tigers built their lead in the first quarter thanks to two Hawks turnovers, and a blocked punt, all resulting in touchdowns.

The Hawks used a trick play to get them going in the second quarter. Robert Domke passed to Charles Bolden on a fake punt. The play covered 30 yards, and a face mask penalty gave the Hawks a first down at the Tigers 15. Eddie Bledsoe and Braxton Necaise ran for four yards each, and Bledsoe got the last two carries of the drive, capping it off with a four-yard touchdown plunge. Justin Ratcliff booted the point-after, and the Hawks were on the board 28-7.

The Hawks defense then recorded two sacks on the next Tigers drive. Matt Rayborn and Donald Hains had sacks quarterback Jermaine Jackson, and forced a punt.

The Tigers would put together another scoring drive to start the third quarter. The Tigers drove 57-yards on six plays, with Dennis Miller scoring from 10 yards out. With 9:42 to play in the third the Tigers led 34-7.

The Hawks responded with a 9 play drive for a touchdown. Necaise hit Steven Dauenhauer for 28 yards, and Bledsoe had runs of nine and three yards for another first down. Bledsoe pounded out another first down on a four yard run, and on first and goal, Jarrod Barrios blasted in an eight yard touchdown run. Ratcliff added the point after, and the Hawks trailed 34-14, at the 5:34 mark of the third.

The Tigers picked up two-first downs, after the kickoff, but with time running down in the third the Tigers would be face with a third and ten. Jackson drooped back to pass, but Domke intercepted the pass along the sideline, and returned the pass 63 yards for a Hawks touchdown. Ratcliff added the point-after, and the Hawks were back in the game 34-21.

The Tigers nearly took the kickoff back, as Marcus Blake returned the ball all the way to the Hawks 26, but Paul Verdin made a touchdown saving tackle for the Hawks.

The Hawks defense did not allow anything, as Rayborn recorded his second sack, and Barrios and E.J. Jarvis recorded another sack of Jackson.

The Hawks took over on downs at the 30, and three plays later the Hawks made another big move. Necaise pitched to Domke who threw downfield for Dauenhauer. Dauenhauer made a juggling catch for a 40-yard completion. The Hawks offense could not punch in another score, and gave the ball up at the 24, with 6:17 to play.

The Tigers looked to put the game away, as they drove 13 plays for their final touchdown. Miller ended the drive with a three-yard run, and Jackson hit Marquis McFadden on the two point conversion. With 1:50 to play, the Tigers led 42-21.

The Hawks refused to die, taking over at the 27 after the kickoff. Necaise hit Dauenhauer for 35 yards, and Necaise then threw deep for the endzone. Paul Verdin came down with the pass and a 37-yard touchdown. Ratcliff added the point after, and the score was 42-28.

The Hawks went for an on-sides kick but the Tigers recovered, and ran out the clock.

For the Hawks, it was the end of a disappointing 4-7 campaign. The Hawks played hard all season, but turnovers and poor special teams haunted them all season.

"I could make a thousand excuses, but that's not me. We had some crazy things happen this year, but the kids worked really hard, and I'm still proud of them", Gaudin said.

The Hawks will feel good this offseason about their quarterback and offensive line situation for next year. Braxton Necaise has emerged as the starter after two solid performances to close the year. Jeremy Thomas, who started five games for the Hawks this season will also be back. Necaise will also have Steven Dauenhauer returning at receiver next year. Dauenhauer caught seven balls for 140 yards Friday night. Paul Verdin and Justin Kopf will also be back.

The Hawks will return plenty of depth on the offensive line, as starters Travis Hall, Scott Nesom, Donavan Saucier, and Russell Tanguis return, as well as Andrew Overall and Kalan Cuevas who both saw plenty of action this year.

On defense the Hawks will be inexperienced, but the Hawks will have two year starter Jonathan Lacoste returning.

As for the 2003 Hawks, 25 seniors played their last game Friday Night.

Robert Domke, Charles Bolden, Jarrod Barrios, Tyler Ball, Donald Hains, Dale Stenett, and Matt Rayborn, anchored the defensive unit know as "The Wrecking Crew".

Eddie Bledsoe and Daniel Spiers started two year in the secondary, as well as playing running back this year. David Brown, Myron Fairley, and Darren Kilpatrick composed one of the best wide receiving corps in school history. Adonis Washington and Charlie Carrolo saw plenty of action at running back this year.

Jonathan Luc started on the offensive line, and Wesley Oliver, Patrick Mondy, Michael Payton, and Catlin Green saw plenty of action on both sides of the ball. Joshua Biehl, Rodney Bruggert, Trevin Burge, Patrick Leblanc, Kyle Brown, and Josh Juneau also will be lost to graduation.

Seniors, you will be missed.

Pirates miss playoff victory

BY STEVE SMITH
Contributing Writer

The Pass Christian Pirates travelled to Soso Friday to face the West Jones Mustangs in the first round of the state playoffs, losing 28-7. Many Pirate fans made the trip to show their support and enjoy the competition.

Pass High Coach Bo Vonderbrugge praised the team saying, "I'm disappointed in the score but I'm not disappointed in the effort you made. I'm proud of every one of you."

The Pirates won the coin toss and elected to defer to the second half, kicking off to the Mustangs. West Jones, running a shotgun offense, managed a 70 yard drive in nine plays that culminated with an Archie Simms touchdown run from the two yard-line and an extra point by kicker Britt Barefoot for a 7 to 0 lead with 8:20 left to play in the first quarter.

The Pirates ran three plays after receiving the kickoff before Jeffrey Hillard was intercepted. West Jones jumped out in front 14 to 0 on a 28 yard touchdown pass from Brett Hyatt to Britt Barefoot.

Pass High, starting at the 20 yard-line after the Barefoot kickoff sailed into the endzone for a touch-back, could not move the ball and a short punt gave the Mustangs good field position at the Pirate 44 yard-line. A 24 yard run by Malcolm Love gave West Jones a first and ten at the Pirate 20 yard-line and Derrick Howard ran for 16 more to the Pirate four yard-line. Hyatt's pass to Nathan Sumrall for a touchdown, and Barefoot's kick made the score 21 to 0, West Jones.

Following the kickoff, the Pirates were limited to three plays again by the tough Mustang defense and punted away, giving the Mustangs a first down at the Pass High 41 yard-line. An interception by Charles Woods put the Pirates back on offense with a first down at mid-field, but a lost fumble dashed the Pirates hopes and three plays later Hyatt passed to Barefoot for a 34-yard touchdown reception, Barefoot's kick made the score 28 to 0 in favor of the Mustangs as the first quarter ended.

The Pirate offense made some progress on the next possession but were forced to punt. Jonathan Willis' kick was downed at the Mustang 19 yard-line and West Jones was on the move, reaching the Pirate 19 yard-line before Charles Woods hauled in his second interception.

A 19-yard pass from Hillard to Fredrick Wiley gave the Pirates a first down at their 44 yard-line, and Anthony Henderson punched the ball across mid-field with a 14 yard run to the 41 yard-line of West Jones. Hillard ran for 21 yards on two consecutive carries to set up a first down at the Mustang 29 yard-line. West Jones' coach, Scott Pearson, who had allowed his junior varsity to take over, sent in the first string to stall the Pirate threat. Expecting an all out rush, Vonderbrugge called for a quick opening pass play that caught the Mustangs off-guard and put the Pirates on the board with a 29-yard touchdown reception by Chad Musgrove. Willis' kick made the score 28 to 7.

A scoreless second half made that the final and the Pirates closed the season at 4 and 7 overall. Sophomore Jared Bowser had 35 yards rushing on 13 carries, Jeffery Hillard totaled 24 yards and Anthony Henderson added 14. The Pirates had 10 first downs and 153 total yards on offense.

The cat, Minou

Views From a Front Porch

Stella and I were at the Wooden Boat Festival in Madisonville the other day and besides having a wonderful time, I had a chance to talk with an old friend Dave Stefferud who is on the board of the Lake Ponchartrain Basin Maritime Museum, sponsors of the festival. We didn't talk about boats though; we swapped stories about cats. I won't say he beat me on my stories about Holly, but he did tell me one that was pretty much a topper. Here it is.

One day Michael, our son, befriended a cat of the most ordinary appearance and habits.

I suppose there are a million or so such cats, but she was alert and had a good disposition. Michael gradually overcame the cat's shyness as he sat in a chair in our back yard, smoking a cigarette, and before long, she was sitting on his lap.

Eventually, she came to sleep on his bed at night. We weren't supposed to know that, but of course it wouldn't have made any difference. Michael had a tumor on his brain and he was in the last year of his life.

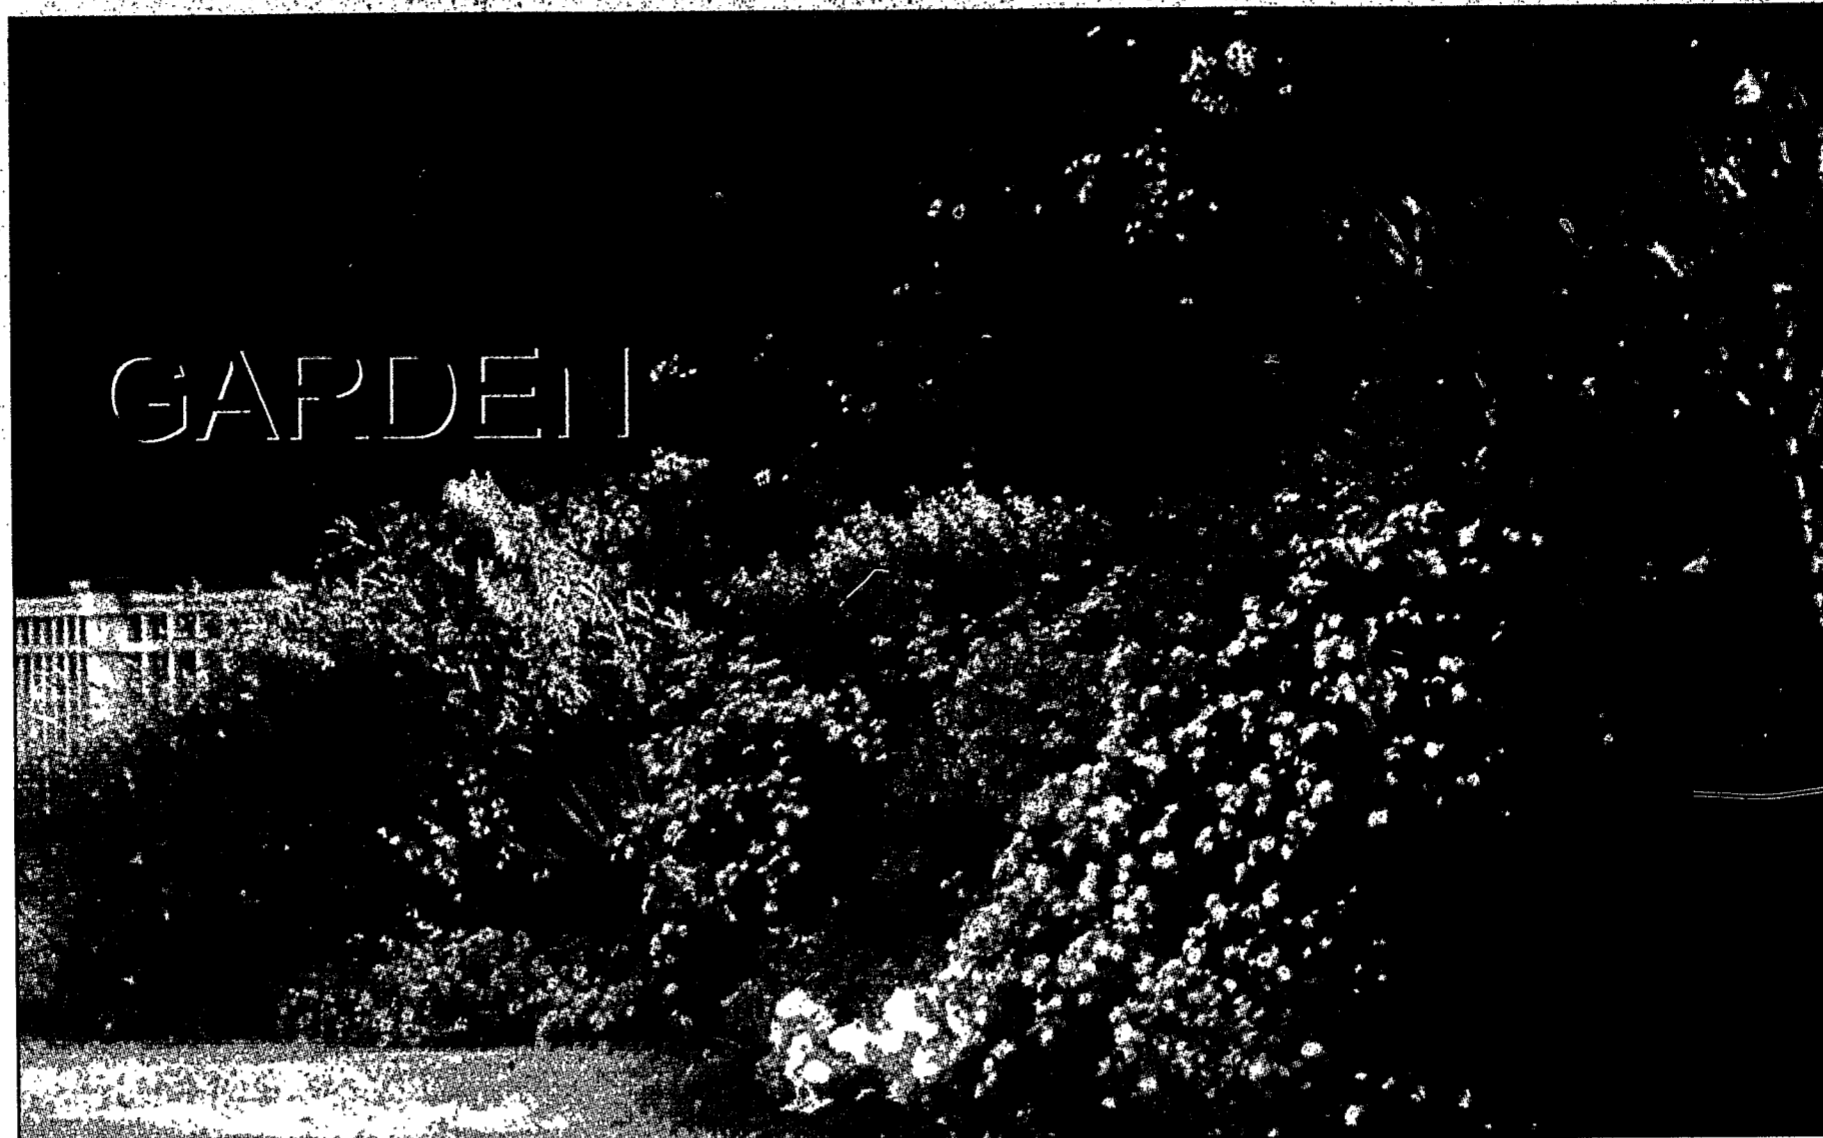

The cat later came to be called Minou, or sometimes Minette, or similar variants. It might be, but my memory fails me, that "Minou" was a common name for cats in New Orleans.

After Michael died, Minou was welcome to stay. She grew to adulthood and then grew some more. The obvious conclusion to this was that we were about to be rewarded with a litter of more Minous (or Minettes). We called the vet and made arrangements for the procedures a cat needs for her female operation to stop making what would have been an endless flow of Minous. We bought a pet cage, enticed her into it, and transported her to the vet.

The next day the vet called and said, "I don't think we'll be operating on your cat today. HE has already had HIS operation and you won't be troubled with progeny!"

So Minou came home and resumed his tranquil life on the front porch with an occasional foray into the yard. One night he brought home a frog for our inspection at two in the morning, and it got loose in the living room. Lights on. Chasing and catching of frog. Frog out the door. Lights out. Cat asleep but disappointed in us.

Last night, Brett, who lives down the street, called up: "Grandma, your cat got killed on the highway, in front of the Piggly Wiggly store! He's

When gardeners discover the harmony that results from using varying colors and textures, what was once considered simply a flower border takes on the look of a real garden.

For years I have written about combining colors in gardens to add that desired sizzle. The great flower displays that catch gardeners' eyes most surely had color, but other variations can also help create that spark.

This really hit home while on a Southern Gardening television shoot in Ocean Springs. In this garden right off the beach, it became quickly apparent that varying the heights, shapes and textures of both flowers and leaves plays as important a role as color in the design of flower borders. The garden was stunning!

When a child is asked to draw a flower, what shape does it have? Most likely the flowers are round. After all, first flower encounters are often with daisies, marigolds, petunias, sunflowers or zinnias. Round flowers do seem to dominate.

Flowers actually come in three distinct habits, or forms, and create distinct moods in much the same way as colors.

Rounded or mounded flowers offer calmness and continuity. For cool-season planting, consider pansies as an example. Plant petunias in the spring and summer.

Spiky flowers add a vertical element, breaking the horizontal plane and yielding a look that is daring and exciting. Choose snapdragons in the cool season and salvias for the summer.

Finally there are those that are prostrate, or ground-hugging. These flowers are the "icing on the cake" and add a professional look. They should be planted at the front of the border so observers see them first.

Sadly many gardeners forget about this all-important element to the flower garden. For cool-weather planting, try sweet alyssum. The New Wonder scaevola is great for summer.

In addition to shapes, varying the heights of the plants also adds great interest to gardens. Make beds large enough to add a layered look of heights - tallest in the back, medium and short in between,

The Pink Ladies, officially known as the Ladies Auxiliary of the Hancock County Medical Center, held a meeting and awards luncheon at the Bridges at Casino Magic on Thursday. The Auxillary presented the Board of Trustees with a check for $15,000, profits from the gift shop at the center.

Volunteers, both men and women, performed a total of 11,451.25 hours of service at the medical center in 2003, bringing the total number of volunteer hours to 150,279.00 hours since the volunteers began clocking hours in 1986.

Presently membership holds at 41 active members, 10 associates and 2 honorary. Volunteers have saved the medical center and estimated $176,234.74 dollars in personnel costs just this year.

Awards were presented to volunteers according to the total number of hours they have clocked. Organizers said new members are always welcome.

The volunteers perform a number of services at the hospital and are expected to adhere to the same strict guidelines as regular employees, including strictly clocking hours and all hospital policies.

Gladys Knight to perform at Magic Nov. 14-15

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Grammy-award winning Motown legend Gladys Knight is set to perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Nov. 14-15 at 9 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased for $29.95, $34.95 and $39.95 through the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster Outlet.

At the age of 4, she began singing as a guest soloist in church. At age 7 she won the Grand Prize on Ted Mack's Amateur Hour, and the following year, she, along with her brother Bubba, her sister Brenda, and her cousins, William and Elinor Guest, formed The Pips.

In 1959, Brenda and Elinor left the group, replaced by cousin Edward Patten and friend Langston George.

The group was renamed Gladys Knight and the Pips, and following Langston's departure in 1962, the classic line-up was in place.

With Gladys singing lead and the Pips providing lush harmonies and graceful choreography, the group went on to achieve icon status, having recorded some of the most memorable songs of the 60's, 70's, and 80's.

Their hits include: "I Heard It Through The Grapevine," "If I Were Your Woman," "Neither One of Us (Wants To Be The First To Say Goodbye)," "I've Got To Use My Imagination," "Best Thing That Ever Happened to Me," and the No. 1 smash "Midnight Train to Georgia."

Gladys enjoyed another No. 1 hit in 1985 when she teamed with Stevie Wonder, Elton John, and Dionne

Warwick on "That's What Friends Are For."

All told, Gladys Knight has recorded over 36 albums over the years, including four solo albums during the past decade.

SHIRLEY JONES TO PERFORM NOV. 28-29

Everyone's favorite TV mom Shirley Jones is set to perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Friday and Saturday, November 28th and 29th at 9 p.m. Tickets may be purchased for $14.95, $19.95 & $24.95 through the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster Outlet.

The Shirley Jones story is the quintessential American Cinderella story. Jones was born in 1934, in Charleroi, Pennsylvania and named after Shirley Temple. Immediately following her graduation from high school, Jones was spotted by a scout photographer for the coveted Miss Pittsburgh Beauty Pageant. She competed and won the title and others before being awarded a scholarship to the famed Pittsburgh Playhouse. Following her apprenticeship at the playhouse, Jones borrowed a mere $160 from her father to move to New York City, promising to return home when the money was gone. That day would never come.

Jones learned that replacement try-outs for the chorus of "South Pacific" were underway at the St. James Theater and decided that the try-outs would be as good as any for her first professional audition. She arrived at the theater to find over 85 girls scrambling for a place in line. Fifty-one girls later, it was Jones's turn. The voice of Richard Rodgers, in a rare visit to a chorus audition, came out of the darkness asking if Miss Jones would be "kind enough to wait 20 minutes to sing for his associate, Mr. Oscar Hammerstein." She waited and sang, and the stage lit up. For Shirley Jones the struggle was over. Her first stage appearance was as one of the nurses in that same Broadway musical "South Pacific." Rodgers and Hammerstein then graduated their fresh discovery to a leading role and a national tour in their new musical "Me and Juliet." It was during this tour that preparations for the movie version of "Oklahoma!" began in Hollywood.

Competition for the coveted role of Laurey was mounting furiously and attracting national attention. Along with scores of contenders, Rodgers and Hammerstein arranged for young Shirley Jones to interrupt her tour to fly to Hollywood for a screen test and the rest is Hollywood history.

The movie follow-ups to the "Oklahoma!" came like rapid-fire for the nation's new girl-next-door. Jones starred opposite some of the biggest names in the business in "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," "Bedtime Story," "The Happy Ending," "The Cheyenne Social Club," "The Music Man" and of course, "Carousel" in which she starred once again with Gordon MacRae her "Oklahoma!" co-star. In 1960, Jones won an Oscar for Best Supporting Actress for her powerful portrayal of Lulu Bains in the ageless American classic "Elmer Gantry."

Television introduced another generation to Jones in the four-year hit series "The Partridge Family," in which she was the matriarch of the family's successful rock and roll band.

Jones has headlined at the MGM Grand in Las Vegas and has made numerous summer tours starring in favorite musicals such as "The Sound of Music" and "Show Boat." In 1977, she married her second husband, comedian Marty Ingels. Shaun, Patrick and Ryan Cassidy, Shirley's three children with late actor Jack Cassidy, all work within the entertainment industry.

In the past few years, Jones has been busy touring the world, performing in concert. She has also accepted some fabulous guest appearances on popular network shows such as "The Drew Carey Show," "Sabrina, the Teenage Witch" and "That '70's Show."

Don't miss Shirley Jones Friday and Saturday November 28th and 29th at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

with a mission, and that was to be a comfort to Michael. And that now that Minou's duty in this life was complete, he had been recalled.

We are in the habit of watching the television from our couch in a room which also affords a view of "cat TV," the window at which Minou sat to watch the ever-fascinating outside world of frogs, bugs, other cats.

The window was the same place he sat when outside to let us know that he wanted to be let in. So that night we resumed our usual postures and habits after the burial but with saddened hearts.

Suddenly, Andree said, "Ohmygod, the cat wants to come in!" There Minou was, at the window, peering in.

We had buried the wrong cat!

Gardening

then prostrate up front.

Although texture most often refers to the visual appearance of a plant's foliage, flowers certainly offer real texture as well. The three basic textures are fine, medium and coarse.

Examples of plants with fine-textured leaves are ferns, ornamental grasses and African irises. Fine-textured flower examples are gaura and strawberry geranium. Observers must look closely to see the intricate features of these plants.

Medium-textured examples are Purple Heart, Mexican mint or Plectranthus plant leaves, and flowers like phlox or marigolds. These stand out from a distance, causing the passerby to glance.

Coarse-textured leaves add incredible boldness to gardens. Plants like bananas, elephant ears and cannas create a tropical look. Coarse-textured flowers like the Moy Grande hibiscus with 12-inch blossoms will literally stop traffic.

With an understanding of gardening colors and textures it is easy to add interest to any landscape. For instance, while a monochromatic scheme might seem boring, it can be made much more lively and interesting by using flowers of differing heights, shapes and textures.

When gardeners discover the harmony that results from using varying colors and textures, what was once considered simply a flower border takes on the look of a real garden. Try this rewarding technique now, and again with spring planting.

Health news to wake you up

Question: I heard that cardiovascular exercise can prolong life. Is this true?

"Answer: Your heart is only good for so many beats, and that's it. Don't waste them on exercise. Everything wears out eventually. Speeding up your heart will not make you live longer. That's like saying you can extend the life of your car by driving it faster. Want to live longer? Take a nap.

Question: Should I cut down on meats and eat more fruits and vegetables?

"Answer: You must grasp logistical efficiencies. What does a cow eat? Hay and corn. And what are these? Vegetables. So a steak is nothing more than an efficient mechanism of delivering vegetables to your system. Need grain? Eat chicken. Beef is also a good source of field grass (green leafy vegetable). And a pork chop can also give you 100 % of your recommended daily allowance of vegetable slop.

Question: Is beer or wine bad for me?

"Answer: Look, it goes to the earlier point about fruits and vegetables. As we all know, scientists divide everything in the world into three categories: animal, mineral and vegetable.

We all know that beer and wine are not animal, and they are not on the periodic table of elements. So that only leaves one thing, right? My advice: Have a burger and a beer, and enjoy your liquid vegetables.

Question: How can I calculate my body/fat ratio?

"Answer: Well, if you have a body, and you have body fat, your ratio is one to one. If you have two bodies, your ratio is two to one, etc.

Question: What are some of the advantages of participating in a regular exercise program?

"Answer: Can't think of a single one. Sorry. My philosophy is: No pain - Good.

Question: Aren't fried foods bad for you?

"Answer: You're not listening. Foods are fried these days in vegetable oil. In fact, they're permeated in it. How could getting more vegetables be bad for you?

Question: What's the secret to healthy eating?

"Answer: Thicker gravy.

Question: Will sit-ups prevent me from getting a little soft around the middle?

"Answer: Definitely not!!!

When you exercise a muscle, it gets bigger. You should only be doing sit-ups if you want a bigger stomach.

Question: Is chocolate bad for me?

"Answer: Are you crazy? Hello -- Cocoa beans -- another vegetable!!! It's the best feel-good food around.

"Well, I hope this has cleared up any misconceptions you may have had about food and diets. Have a cookie -- flour is a veggie!!!

"One more thing -- 'When life hands you lemons,' ask for tequila and salt.' Most people routinely pay little attention to health news whether written or spoken. Adding insult to injury, the majority of the minority who read or hear health news reject it or simply ignore it as if it did not exist.

It almost seems futile to bother writing about or talking about health issues.

In this unwholesome context, I began reading the above-quoted E-mail which was titled "Information You Want to Hear."

I almost gagged by the time I had read the first question and answer.

When I got to the end of the second question and answer concerning meat, I was confused as to what I was reading.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

The Messiah will return and restore world order

The nations of the earth are destined to destroy themselves. Eventually the Bible prophecies will come to pass. Wars and rumors of wars and destruction beyond belief will all but wipe out civilization.

The Messiah will return and restore order and bring peace. He will also establish His government as He rules and reigns for 1,000 years. After the 1,000 years are up; Jesus will make some major changes on earth.

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away. Also there was no more sea." Then I St. John, saw the Holy City, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband." Rev. 21:1 & 2.

And He that sat upon the throne said, Behold I make all things new and He said unto me, write, for these words are true and faithful and He said unto me; It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end.

I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the 'water of life freely'. Rev. 21: 5 & 6.

The believer will enter the new Jerusalem to live and be with God forever.

Jesus is preparing a room for His followers. He said, "I go to prepare a place for you, for where I am you will be also." John 14:2.

The new Jerusalem will measure 12 1/2 miles wide, 12 1/2 miles in length, 12 1/2 miles high. Rev. 21:16 Who's name is written in the Lambs Book of Life will enter there in. Rev. 21:27

Is your name written there? It can be by asking Jesus the Savior to forgive you of all your sins and invite Him into your heart. He will accept your request. He says whosoever calls upon the name of the Lord SHALL BE SAVE.

The Word for the Week

Voices, Voices. There are all sorts of voices out there. To which are we to pay attention? It would be nice to be like Moses and have God speak to us right out of heaven with a big booming voice. Then we would know for sure what He wants us to do! Others ask, "Aren't we supposed to have modern day prophets who speak for God?" Then surely we would have sure directions to follow! The apostle Peter stood on the Mount of Transfiguration with James and John and heard the very voice of God. When the face of Jesus shone like the sun, God the Father said, "This is My beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased" (Matthew 17:5). And Peter says, "We ourselves heard this utterance made from heaven" (2 Peter 1: 18). What an experience! It is one we all covet. But wait a minute! The apostle

Peter tells us "We have the even surer prophetic word" (2 Peter 1:19). Imagine, we have a word from God which is better than an audible voice from heaven! Can that be? Yes it can. Peter is referring to the Bible! The Bible is the word of God. "Men moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God" (2 Peter 1:21). This means that the Bible originated with God and that God guided the thoughts and words of those who wrote the Bible. When we read the Bible, God is speaking to us. Because the Bible is written, we do not have to depend on our feeble memories to remember God's word, we can open the Bible and read it. We do not need someone to speak for God. God speaks for Himself in the Bible! It is a more sure word! Don't neglect to listen to God. Read the Bible!

The Waveland Fire Department visited Saint Clare School in October with "Fire Safety House". Students Ashley Gunther, Kolleen Alcken and Zach Risinger hold on to the fire hydrant while waiting their turn to experience the Safety House.

Waveland Fire Department visits Saint Clare school

FROM ST. CLARE ELEMENTARY

No it's not a real fire... just a visit from the Waveland Fire Dept. and their safety house! After watching a fire safety film the entire school got to experience first hand a room filled up with smoke (non-toxic of course) and then by crawling on the floor we had to feel the really hot door reverse our direction and crawl to the window, open it and get out quickly and safely.

The smoke was very thick and you truly could not see your hand in front of your face. We called 9-1-1 on their special phone and were instructed how to report an emergency. Later it was off to explore the fire truck it's self. All the dials and equipment were assenting. The Fourth grade got a bonus because we were studying weather- the safety house turned from a smoking empress into a hurricane shelter. The news alert came on T.V. the lights went out, the shutters closed the wind howled and lightning cracked, even the house started to shake!!! After the hurricane "moved on" we realized just what we would need to do in a real hurricane.

P.C. Garden Club elects officers

The Pass Christian Garden Club held its Installation of Officers Luncheon at the Pass Christian Yacht Club. The following members were elected:

President: Petie Hyman
First V.P.: Helen Davis
2nd V.P.: Ann Leggett
Recording Secretary: Betty Gallender;
Corresponding Secretary: Shirley Williams
Treasurer: Donna McCracken
Historian: Carolyn Johnson
Parliamentarian: Marie Leruth

The Pass Christian Garden Club began its September meeting, at the home of Nora Hillier, with the club themes "Good Earth Keeping- Begins At Home" and "Recycling-A Way of Life." President, Petie Hyman, said " Our club's focus this year will be: To promote further interest in community beautification, the conservation of our natural resources, and the gardening education of our members thru horticulture."

The Club's fall project for Civic Beautification, chaired by Michelle Smith, is a beautification effort on the east end of the Pass Christian Library. Smith said that current plantings will have to be removed, new landscaping installed, and a fenced enclosure will be installed to hide garbage cans and recycle bins. Also, work will be done in the area near the Children's Wing where landscaping has become overgrown and the fountain is not working.

The 25-acre Wildflower Garden and William Bartram Arboretum on Menge Avenue is a continuing project of the club. Established by the club in 1952, the Arboretum was named for the first native born, 1739, American naturalist, William Bartram. Trustees are Helen Davis, Margie Walle, Mary Catherine Ward and Jean Moreland. Many hours of volunteer work by the Arboretum Committee and members, have made this a beautiful green space for the public to visit.

Organized in 1930, Pass Christian Garden Club has many beautification and charitable projects in the planning stages for the coming year.

The Sea Coast Echo

Hancock's Local Newspaper since 1892

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community

Checking in With Caterina Scorsone

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Seeing is believing for Caterina Scorsone.

And the young Canadian actress believes she sees a long run ahead of her in "1-800-MISSING," the Saturday-night drama that has given Lifetime some of its strongest series ratings to date, since the show's premiere last August.

Based on books by Meg Cabot (writing as Jenny Carroll), the show casts Scorsone as Jess Mastriani, a young psychic whose visions help FBI agent Brooke Haslett (Gloria Reuben, also a producer of the series) find people who have vanished. Some have been kidnapped, but others have disappeared on their own accord.

"We were working in such a vacuum, we weren't really able to look up," Scorsone says of the healthy start "1-800-MISSING" had. "We're filming in Toronto, so we've been protected from the whole media blitz. The show just started airing in Canada a few weeks ago. Apparently, that's going well, too."

Scorsone admits she hasn't read the "1-800-MISSING" books, and she didn't actively seek her role in the series.

"I was on a break from acting and going to school, about to start midterms, when I got the call to go in for an audition," she recalls. "I didn't think it would come to anything. Then when I got the part, I thought I'd do the pilot and that would be fine. I'd just go back to school, but the show got picked up - which was great."

Caterina Scorsone

The fact that Jess seems so regular appealed to Scorsone from the start. "We just wanted to focus on how normal a process it is to realize that you have a gift," she says, "then find a way to plug it into your life."

Birthplace: Toronto.
Education: Currently a student at the University of Toronto (but taking time off to work on her series).

Other TV work: "Mr. Dressup"; "When the Dark Man Calls"; "Shock Treatment"; "Rescuers: Stories of Courage - Two Families"; "Power Play"; "The Devil's Arithmetic"; "Rated X"; "Common Ground"; "My Horrible Year!"

Movie work: "Strike!" (aka "All I Wanna Do"); "Teen Knight"; "The Third Miracle"; "Borderline Normal."

On her current character: "Though it's a pretty big deal that she's psychic, she's also just like any person who has a talent and is trying to figure out how to utilize that talent for her own good and others'."

PBS series brings darkness to light in 'Secrets of the Dead'

By Sharla Etkin-Ives
© Zap2it

What started out as a scientific journey became a study in survival for engineer Bashar Altabba, who set off to trace the construction of the 260-mile World War II Japanese railway immortalized in the 1957 movie "Bridge on the River Kwai."

What he found was hell on Earth. Altabba tells how 100,000 forced laborers - including POWs and native men, women and children - perished along the Thai-Burma railroad, known as "death railway," in a new episode of "Secrets of the Dead," airing Wednesday, Nov. 12, on PBS (check local listings).

Howard Brooks was a 22-year-old sailor in 1942 when his ship, the USS Houston, was sunk by the Japanese and he was captured. He spent more than three years working on the railroad.

"It was sheer luck for all of us who survived. ... It wasn't because of any medical treatment or proper food," Brooks says. "You had to have a positive mindset in order to survive."

The POWs were a motley crew of Dutch, British, Australian and U.S. captives who united under horrible conditions to help one another endure the unthinkable whippings and other torture. No one was spared punishment.

"Our food conditions were very, very poor," Brooks recalls. "The medical situation was practically nil. When one got sick, you did what you could to help out."

While Altabba can only imagine the horrors POWs suffered, Brooks can never forget.

You'll scrutinize everything in your path with a keen eye, especially when it comes to documents you find yourself signing.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

A relationship issue deserves perception and logic. Talk it out, Gemini - after all, that is what you are known for.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

If you are having health problems, take the issue apart and analyze it. Emotion won't do you any good this time.

If you have a hard time dealing with children right now, logic would be your best bet to resolve the issue.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

A domestic issue could have you up in arms. Before you get emotional, sit down and analyze the issue.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Talking about your problems might actually do you some good. Pushing things aside might not be the best option this time.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

That item you wanted to buy a few weeks ago might not look so attractive now. If you waited, you'll be patting yourself on the back.

Television's funniest sitcom is - D'oh! - a 15-year-old cartoon

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

No one expected 15 years ago that the phrases "Don't have a cow, man!" and "Ay, caramba!" would become part of the vernacular.

Or that "D'oh!" would become an entry in the venerable Oxford Dictionary.

Or that the amusing 30-second shorts on "The Tracey Ullman Show" would go on to win 20 Emmy Awards.

Certainly, no one predicted that on Sunday, Nov. 9, Fox would launch its 15th season of "The Simpsons," making it the longest running sitcom in prime time and the longest-running animated series ever.

"Because of the incredibly fluky way 'The Simpsons' got on television, it can't be readily replicated," says Harry Shearer, who gives voice to evil billionaire Montgomery Burns, fawning assistant Smithers and vacuous anchorman Kent Brockman. "We were the product of a fledgling network desperate to be seen as being in business with major show business figures. They gave (executive producer) James Brooks a very sweet deal that included no network interference. Unless you have a fledgling network desperate to be in business, you don't get that."

That creative freedom has resulted in consistently funny scripts - no mean feat considering the number of humorless sitcoms. Each script goes through about eight drafts, according to Al Jean, the show runner and producer who has been with "The Simpsons" from the beginning.

"In the early '90s, George Bush Sr. said America should be more like the Waltons than the Simpsons," Jean says. "Some conservatives thought Bart too disobedient. Now, we're considered part of the establishment. A lot of the people who were 15 years old when we started are now 30."

While the rest of the world ages, the Simpsons remain the same. The series revolves around the Simpson clan, led by dad Homer (voice of Dan Castellaneta), who has the IQ of a salami and the appetite of a shark. He works for a nuclear power plant where he regularly causes toxic disasters. Though some critics label the family dysfunctional, Homer and his homemaker wife, Marge (Julie Kavner), manage to function and love each other as they rear their children. Bart (Nancy Cartwright) is a fourth-grader whose potential could be measured in prison sentences, but he has a good soul - when he isn't selling it. Lisa (Yeardley Smith), the smart, feminist, saxophone-playing vegan, is on a perpetually doomed crusade to save her family, usually from its own idiocy. Baby sister Maggie sucks on a pacifier.

Over the years, the show has proven it has no sacred cows. Creator Matt Groening uses the same irreverent approach evident in his "Life Is Hell" cartoon strip that runs in more than 250 newspapers.

Despite animation's infinite visual possibilities, "The Simpsons" relies on razor-sharp writing. It comes as no surprise that late-night host Conan O'Brien wrote for the show for two years. "It hurts my feelings that they are still funny," O'Brien says. "They should have lost their way after I left. Don't they know? Damn them!"

Rather than lose its way, the subversive comedy continues to do what it does best: work on a number of levels. Children enjoy it, particularly for Bart's pranks, but they don't get all the cultural, political and sexual jokes. In last week's Halloween episode, "Treehouse of Horror XIV," for example, the opening segment was "Reaper Madness," a take-off on the 1936 anti-marijuana film "Reefer Madness." While adults may chuckle at that reference, the children instead will laugh at Homer killing Death.

Still, some parents give the Sunday night comedy a wide berth, fearful that Bart's underachieving ways will have a greater influence over their children than Lisa's over-achieving. And parents who limit children's viewing are more prone to allow them to watch an educational show than this.

"The Simpsons" Lisa, Marge, Maggie, Homer and Bart (from left) have a revelation that baby Maggie, who mostly sucks on a pacifier, has a higher IQ than Lisa.

Indeed Cartwright limits her children's TV viewing. "No sugar and no TV during the school week," she says, sounding more like the single mom of two she is than the spike-haired rascal she voices. For years, her children watched "The Simpsons" on tape so they could be in bed early on Sunday, but now that they are 12 and 14, they watch together.

A single episode - which goes through various production stages in California and Korea - takes up to a year to go from idea to broadcast. So when Cartwright settles in to watch Sundays, she sees it for the first time from start to finish.

"It's pretty cool," she says. "I can pretty much watch and be a fan."

Among the show's many fans are celebrities who vie to be on it the way stars did a generation ago with "Batman."

'Nip/Tuck' actress has a Tony pedigree

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q Did Joely Richardson ("Nip/Tuck") star in the live-action movie "101 Dalmatians"? Is she related to Natasha Richardson? -Jodi Gardner, Williamsville, N.Y.

A Yes on both counts. Natasha and Joely are sisters; their Oscar-winning parents are actress Vanessa Redgrave ("Julia") and director Tony Richardson ("Tom Jones"), who died of AIDS in 1991.

Q What happened to Alan Titchmarsh of BBC America's "Ground Force"? The show is not the same without him. -R.S., Saginaw, Mich.

A Titchmarsh told the British press that, while he enjoyed his time on "Ground Force," he simply had had his fill of it. He originally planned to leave even earlier, but producers talked him into staying with the show for a few more episodes.

Joely Richardson

Q What was the series starring Robert Urich as a post-Civil War secret service agent who was beaten and buried alive? He escaped, but lost his memory. Also, who is the debonair actor who plays Harley Earl in the Buick commercials? -G. Trammel, Simi Valley, Calif.

A Urich played amnesiac James Cathcart, aka Lazarus, in the 1995-96 drama "The Lazarus Man," which aired on cable and in syndication. Ratings were solid after 22 episodes, as Cathcart was beginning to recover many of his lost memories, but in a stunningly callous act, the production company that was financing the show pulled the plug when executives learned that their star had been diagnosed with a rare form of cancer. Ironically, of course, Urich made a full recovery and continued to act until shortly before the cancer returned and ended his life in 2002.

And I suspect your second question is related to the first, because character actor John Diehl, who plays Harley Earl in those car commercials, was among Urich's "Lazarus Man" castmates. He is perhaps best known these days, however, for his chilling work as Ben Gilroy, the twisted assistant police chief on the FX drama "The Shield."

'Charmed' gets medieval on The WB Network

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

In the attic of the Halliwell mansion in San Francisco, a mighty battle rages for possession of a powerful magical object.

OK, this is a pretty common occurrence in The WB Network's magical drama "Charmed," but what sets this fight apart is that the prize is not some bizarre orb or talisman or amulet. Drawn from a stone sitting in the house's garden conservatory, it is none other than the most famous of all swords - Excalibur.

On Sunday, Nov. 9, "Charmed" goes to Camelot - or, to be more accurate, Camelot comes to it - in "The Sword and the City," which turns Piper (Holly Marie Combs), the eldest of three good-witch sisters, into Queen Arthur for a day.

Director Derek Johansen is surprised it took the show so long to tap into the deep well of Arthurian lore.

"The fact that we had so many stories to tell before we got here says a lot about Brad (executive producer Brad Kern) and the writers," he says.

Filming gets under way on the attic fight sequence, under the supervision of Johansen and stunt coordinator Noon Orsatti. While Combs' stunt double, Nancy Thurston, does most of the heavy lifting, Johansen says the actress is no slouch.

"Holly Marie is doing an amazing job with her swordplay. She catches on quick."

Earlier in the week, Rose McGowan, who plays youngest sister Paige, had to perform a pratfall in a scene with Balthazar Getty, who plays her current love interest, the warlock Richard Montana. Despite having to drop and pop back up several times, McGowan was unfazed.

"I'm always cognizant of them being girls and small," Orsatti says, "but I'll tell you what, they're tough. Often-times, they're shooing me away because I'm always trying to pamper and baby them."

In the same scene, the 6-foot-tall Getty's toughest job was to wave his hand over a malfunctioning garbage disposal. "That's good enough for me," Getty says. "Throw fireballs, clean up drains - what more could you ask for?"

Back in the attic, Richard Atterton, playing the nefarious Mordant, and Mark Aiken, as the Dark Knight, prepare to square off. Atterton straps on perhaps the largest pair of boots ever seen on "Charmed," while Aiken practices his moves in a long black wig and a long black coat.

"I thought I wasn't going to be doing any sword-fighting because we have stunt doubles in," Aiken says, "but at some point Derek wanted a bit more of me. So they took me to one side and spent about 20 minutes talking me through it and rehearsing. So I get to do some sword work, which is very good fun."

He says this despite having to maneuver in his snug yet stylish outerwear. "The costume designer found it in some weird, spooky shop on Melrose," he says. "I think it was designed to be worn in a dark bar by somebody with a lot of makeup, rather than somebody who's going to be doing lots of sword-fighting."

"All the costumes are anachronistic, with zips and buckles. I think Edward looks like a cool, 1980s pop star, and I look like a roadie for The Cure."

Aiken draws on his London drama-school training in stage fighting, but that's not the main background for Orsatti's team.

"A lot of people get their skills from the martial-arts field," Orsatti says. "A very few are true fencers. And one of my guys has done it in live shows."

John Boorman's 1981 film "Excalibur" inspired Johansen's sleek design for his sword in the stone. It's rendered in gleaming silver metal, not painted wood or plastic, as are all the show's blades.

"We are playing with the real thing," Orsatti says. "They're not sharpened blades, but they're aluminum. Last time, we had a guy that had a pretty good cut on the finger, just caught the blade."

"But in six years, we've had a grand total of 30 stitches. Considering the action we've done, we've had a pretty good success rate."

For McGowan and Alyssa Milano, who plays middle sister Phoebe, the episode is less about fighting and more about feelings.

"Basically," McGowan says, "I'm getting closer to my man-friend and they are getting a little pissy about it. He used to do magic, but he doesn't now because he could be dangerous."

Of course, there's the question of that magically repaired garbage disposal.

"I'm very suspicious of Paige's boyfriend," Milano says. "It's sort of a play on when she was suspicious of my boyfriend, Cole. She was right. It's yet to be seen if Phoebe's right about this.

"The last time Richard used magic, he had a breakdown and lost it and went crazy. So he's been on the magic wagon for quite a few months. He used magic to fix our disposal, so it causes a little friction between Phoebe and Paige."

This season, Phoebe acquired the ability to sense the feelings of others. While she has already used this empathic sense on a prospective date, it seems to be doing no good with Richard - which has Milano wondering. "Why doesn't she use her empathy power to figure him out?" she says. "They haven't really discussed that. That should be addressed."

NBC hopes to capture viewers by 'Saving Jessica Lynch'

The American Heritage Dictionary defines a "hero" as: "A person noted for feats of courage or nobility of purpose, especially one who has risked or sacrificed his or her life: soldiers and nurses who were heroes in an unpopular war."

By that measure, there are at least two, and likely many more, heroes in NBC's latest TV movie, but only one's name appears in the title.

On Sunday, Nov. 9, "Saving Jessica Lynch" - directed by Peter Markle from a script by John Fasano - recounts the story of the U.S. Army private who, along with her unit, was attacked and taken prisoner during Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Lynch's plight and dramatic rescue by U.S. commandos from an Iraqi hospital captured headlines worldwide and turned the petite West Virginian into a poster girl for American pluck and determination.

Less famous is the Iraqi who led U.S. troops to Lynch's location, at immense risk to his own life and the lives of his family.

Produced without Lynch's cooperation, the movie relies upon interviews with the surviving members of the 507th Maintenance Company - a non-combat unit of cooks, mechanics and clerks - which was ambushed on March 23 after taking a wrong turn and winding up in the Iraqi city of Nasiriyah.

"Absolutely terrifying" is how Canadian Laura Regan, who plays Lynch, describes filming the ambush on the movie's extensive sets this summer outside of Dallas.

"It was like the most terrifying thing ever," she says, "and it was fake. The guns are pointing at you, and they're firing. You're firing your own guns back. It's terrifying."

"They built six blocks of this Iraqi town. So you're in the town, you're in the military vehicle, and you're under fire. The uniform and the set decoration placed us halfway there, because the reality was all around us, even though we were pretending."

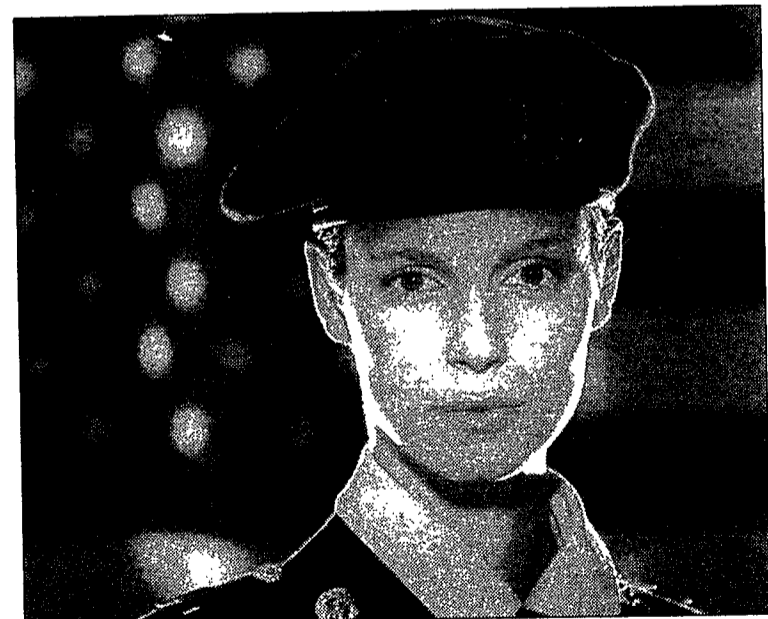

Also contributing to the screenplay are Department of Defense reports and the first-person account of Mohammed Odeh al-Rahaief, a 33-year-old Iraqi lawyer, husband and father of a 6-year-old daughter.

"He's a guy that always wants to do the right thing, but dreams more than does," says Nicholas Guilak ("24"), an American of Persian descent, who plays al-Rahaief. "He gets in trouble because he looks a little too hard, too strong, at things he's not supposed to, when he sees injustice being done."

After the ambush, in which 11 soldiers were killed and nine wounded, the 19-year-old Lynch is taken to Saddam Hussein Hospital. During a visit to his wife, a nurse at the hospital, al-Rahaief learns of the plight of Lynch, whose doctor is al-Rahaief's sister-in-law.

"Mohammed saw the Fedayeen slapping Jessica and treating her very badly," Regan says, "which is why he rescued her. He wouldn't have risked his life if he just saw a girl being treated in a hospital bed."

"He put it all on the line for this," Guilak says. "On top of that, he had no idea where he was going. He went out after curfew - that's death right there. He walks across the desert, six miles. There's a war going on, bullets flying both ways. The Americans could kill him, they don't know who he is. The Fedayeen soldiers would kill him on the spot for being out there."

Syracuse good, but Bilas says UConn best

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

The Syracuse Orangemen weren't supposed to be playing in early April.

Indeed, coach Jim Boeheim's crew went from being unranked in the pre-season to making it all the way to the NCAA Final against Kansas in New Orleans on April 7, defeating the Jayhawks, 81-78, to win their first national championship.

Despite the national title, the Orangemen come into this season again with doubts, the primary one surrounding the departure of All-American forward Carmelo Anthony for the NBA.

This week, viewers can get their first glimpse of the 2003-2004 Orangemen when they take the court against the Harlem Globetrotters in a preseason game Tuesday, Nov. 11, on ESPN2. The regular season gets under way later in the week.

Jay Bilas, who will do analysis on the broadcast, thinks Syracuse will be tough this year, even without Anthony. "Obviously, not having Carmelo Anthony is going to present a different set of circumstances for them," he says. "To (lose), really, what turned out to be the premier player in college basketball last year is going to be an adjustment. But I think (forward) Hakim Warrick is ready to blossom into a star on the college level, as is (point guard) Gerry McNamara. Their freshmen are going to have to contribute - I don't think there's any question about that. But they've got really good pieces, and ... Jim Boeheim's got a program there. He doesn't just have really good teams from time to time; he's got good teams every year. So I think they'll really be competitive."

Bilas thinks the favorite coming out of the gate is Connecticut. "They've got the best center (Emeka Okafor) in the country and they've got one of the best scoring guards (Ben Gordon) in the country, and with that combination, they're going to be awfully difficult to contain. And they're two-deep at every position, and two-deep with really quality players. So, their practices are going to be intense and competition's going to be really heavy in practice. When that happens - you have to be careful with that - usually teams have an opportunity to take off and get better."

Just behind Connecticut, Bilas says, is Duke. "They're a big team. They have great versatility. They have a lot of guys that can play out on the floor and they have a lot of different combinations. But I think, ultimately, they'll wind up with a seven-player rotation of core players, and then other guys that can play important minutes if needed. But they've got a freshman who is one of those special players that (coach Mike) Krzyzewski's had over the years, named Luol Deng, who is long and athletic and he really knows how to play. I think before the year is over he'll prove out to be one of the top players in the league."

Also to be considered is Kansas, who finished last season ranked No. 2. "They've got a lot of guys coming back that are top-flight performers," Bilas says. "Bill Self is one of the best coaches in the country, so it'll be a new style for them. I mean, they made it all the way to the championship game last year and had, in my opinion, (forward) Wayne Simien been healthy, they were the best team in the country by a good measure. So, having Simien back and (guard) Keith Langford and (guard) Aaron Miles, that gives them a heck of a start to be one of the, I would think, top five teams in the country."

"My only question with Kansas is how they're going to shoot the ball. Their perimeter shooting is, I think, the lone question mark they have going into the season, because their inside game is going to be really stellar."

Bilas believes that the success of Texas, ranked No. 3 at last season's end, hinges on filling the void left by point guard T.J. Ford's graduation to the NBA. "I don't think you can replace T.J. Ford," he says. "They've got one incoming guy named Edgar Moreno, and then they've got a kid that's been there already named Kenton Paulino, who didn't play much last year, but is a talented kid and a capable kid. And then they've got a veteran, a senior named Royal Ivey, who is capable of playing the point."

"They've got a lot of talent. They're really good defensively. (Center) James Thomas is a great rebounder and shot blocker and has improved as an interior scorer. And (guard) Brandon Mouton is a really good shooter and I think one of the best scorers in the Big 12, which might be the best conference in the country, basketball-wise."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, Nov. 9 (TNT, 1 p.m. ET): Persistence finally paid off for Johnny Benson. For the first time in his long career, Benson can call himself defending champion when today's Pop Secret 400 is run at North Carolina Speedway. He passed Kurt Busch and held off a furious charge from Mark Martin here last year to enter the winner's circle for the first time in 226 Cup starts. Benson's persistence will come in handy over the winter when he looks for a new ride.

"NFL Football" Sunday, Nov. 9 (ESPN, 8:30 p.m. ET): After two weeks on the road, the Rams return to the Edward Jones Dome in St. Louis to face the Baltimore Ravens. Rams QB Marc Bulger's heart is certainly at home. He's unbeaten in his last nine starts there, including four this season. Bulger has been quick to credit his improved offensive line, which is giving him plenty of time to throw to standout wideouts Torry Holt and Isaac Bruce. Bruce recently passed 10,000 yards receiving for his career.

"NBA Basketball" Wednesday, Nov. 12 (TNT, 7 p.m. ET): The San Antonio Spurs and New Jersey Nets renew acquaintances for the first time since last season's Finals. That's when Tim Duncan and the Spurs beat the Swamp Boys in six games, despite the best efforts of Jason Kidd. The floor leader has led the Nets to a 101-63 regular-season record in his two seasons there, both of which ended in championship losses. Kidd rejected the Spurs' free agent offer over the summer to remain in New Jersey.

Sunday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Simpsons

Life never is normal for Homer Simpson and his Springfield brood, as fans of this animated comedy have known for 14 seasons. Matt Groening's characters launch their 15th year here, with Dan Castellaneta and Julie Kavner continuing to supply the voices of household heads Homer and Marge. In "My Mother the Carjacker," scheming Mother Simpson (voice of guest star Glenn Close) is caught by police, but Homer tries to keep her out of prison.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Cold Case

Lilly (Kathryn Morris) re-examines a decades-old murder when a prison inmate, bargaining for a reduced sentence, indicates that the wrong man was sentenced for the killing in the new episode "Love Conquers All." The trail leads Lilly to a former track star and his then-girlfriend, both of whom may have had a motive for homicide. Danny Pino ("Lucy") joins the cast as Lilly's new police partner.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Bernie Mac Show

The comedy series opens its third season with "Love Thy Nephew," in which Vanessa (Camille Winbush) clashes with a new neighbor, an argumentative lawyer (guest star Greg Germann, "Ally McBeal"). Bernie (Bernie Mac) believes Vanessa is in the wrong until he has his own run-in with the attorney over a treehouse. Wanda's (Kellita Smith) patience with the kids is tested where her cherished car is involved.

Kathryn Morris

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Malcolm in the Middle

While Lois (Jane Kaczmarek) is asleep and Hal (Bryan Cranston) is out shopping for diapers, some lovely young visitors lure Malcolm, Reese and Stevie (Frankie Muniz, Justin Berfield, Craig Lamar Traylor) away from minding infant Jamie in the new episode "Watching the Baby." Dewey (Erik Per Sullivan) is left to handle the baby-sitting on his own, so he tells Jamie a tall tale built around his relatives.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Alias

Y&R's Enos relishes challenging story line

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

Bobby Marsino is devastated. The character on "The Young and the Restless," played by John Enos, suffers the indignities of his restaurant closing and losing his license. "He's in shock and he isn't sure what's going to happen," Enos says. "He's just trying to figure out what his next move is going to be. His business is pretty much his life, so this crushes him."

Enos sees Bobby as a straight-up guy who is going through a tough time. "He doesn't have a lot of underhanded stuff going on," he says. "Bobby's just a business man who's trying to make it. Unfortunately, there are other people out there who are trying to conspire against him."

For Enos, who joined the show in April, the gig in "Y&R" came at just the right time. "I'd done 'Phone Booth' and a lot of other things, and I was looking to sort of stay closer to home," he says.

"To be honest, it was really tough at first. There's a lot of dialogue, and you work so much in daytime. It's a challenge, and something I'm really enjoying. It's a great job for an actor."

In other news: Victor Newman's (Eric Braeden) dad is coming to town, and it means big changes on "Y&R." George Kennedy will play the role of Albert, Victor's long-lost father.

"He has a very choice role to play as Victor's father," co-head writer Jack Smith says of Kennedy's part. "And he'll be immediately involved in some extremely dramatic life-changing scenes for Victor Newman." Kennedy's first airdate is Nov. 19, and he'll appear in at least three episodes.

Dear Candace: I was wondering what James Reynolds (ex-Abe Carver, "Days of Our Lives") is doing now. He was always one of my favorite characters on the show. Do you know if he's going to do another daytime drama? - K. Kaye via the Internet.

Dear Reader: Reynolds says, "I've got several performances of 'Words of Love' with Valerie Wildman (Fay Walker, 'Days') scheduled over the next few months. I'm also going to do another USO tour, but not sure where they are sending us this time. Then, we'll see what happens."

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 13-ABC

Movie: The Challenge

Ashley and Mary-Kate Olsen prove they're all grown up in this 2003 comedy-adventure movie, one of several films they've made with an eye toward the home-video market. The twins play — of all things — twins, but with very different agendas. Lizzie (Ashley) is a go-getter while Shane (Mary-Kate) is laid-back. Their styles clash when they become reality-show contestants vying for college scholarships.

7 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: The Grifters

Producer Martin Scorsese and director Stephen Frears' much-praised 1990 adaptation of the Jim Thompson novel focuses on three supreme con artists who work their clever wiles on one another. Roy, his mother and his girlfriend (John Cusack, Anjelica Huston, Annette Bening) never can be sure what anyone else in their group is plotting. As the result, neither can viewers, which is much of the film's charm.

7 p.m. on TNT

Movie: The Negotiator

Two experts in police bargaining skills square off in this tense 1998 drama. Samuel L. Jackson plays a hostage negotiator who turns his expertise inside out when he is framed for a crime. He takes Internal Affairs investigators as captives, then demands to deal only with a fellow negotiating master (Kevin Spacey). The excellent cast also includes David Morse, J.T. Walsh and John Spencer ("The West Wing").

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: I Spy

The classic television espionage series becomes a showcase for Eddie Murphy to mug it up in this 2002 movie update, which does have well-staged action sequences if minimal suspense. Owen Wilson plays a government agent teamed with a professional boxer (Murphy) — who can't get over the fact he's now a spy — to retrieve a stolen stealth plane from a master villain (Malcolm McDowell). Famke Janssen ("X-Men") co-stars.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

A woman's killer may be close to home in "Monster." Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) initially believe the victim's son (Adam Storke, "Johnson County War") is the guilty party, especially since his mother thought he had been involved in another crime. DNA evidence indicates a surprising twist.

8:45 p.m. on HBO

Boxing

In what promises to be an action-packed fight, featherweights Marco Antonio Barrera and Manny Pacquiao get it on in a scheduled 12-rounder from San Antonio. Barrera, who has won 57 of his 60 bouts, including 40 by knockout, boasts an edge in experience, which may help him ward off the devastating left hook of his opponent. Pacquiao (37-2-1, 28 KOs) moved up from his normal 122-pound class to challenge Barrera.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Mare Winningham ("The Brotherhood of Poland, New Hampshire") guest stars in "Manic" as the mother of a student (guest star Rory Culkin, "Signs") involved in the probe of the shootings of two high-school basketball players. Ben-son.

and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) are surprised when they eventually learn the shooter's identity.

9:30 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Caddyshack

Rodney Dangerfield delivers a delightful performance as a loud, vulgar and wealthy golfer who turns things upside down at an exclusive country club in this 1980 comedy movie. Michael O'Keefe plays a caddy who questions his future after winning a college scholarship in one of the club's golf tournaments.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"TERMINATOR 3: RISE OF THE MACHINES": He's been making headlines for matters other than his acting lately, but Arnold Schwarzenegger returns to his defining movie role in this tightly-paced, well-staged third chapter of the saga. The star plays another futuristic warrior - funny how he looks just like the last one - sent back to the present day to protect a revolution-leader-to-be (Nick Stahl). The enemy this time is a stunning Terminatrix (Kristanna Loken) who gives her male forerunner a huge challenge. Claire Danes co-stars. DVD extras: theatrical trailers; audio commentary by Schwarzenegger, Stahl, Loken, Danes and director Jonathan Mostow; deleted scenes; outtakes; HBO "First Look" documentary; do-it-yourself "T3 Visual Effects Lab"; background information; introduction by Schwarzenegger; galleries. *** (R: AS, P, V)

"DUMB AND DUMBERER: WHEN HARRY MET LLOYD": Even if Jim Carrey and Jeff Daniels were asked to participate in this prequel to their comedy hit, younger versions of them would have been necessary. Eric Christian Olsen and Derek Richardson give it the old college try as their vehicle lives up - or down - to its name, detailing how teenage misfits Harry and Lloyd organized a revolt to get out of remedial high-school classes and into the mainstream. Eugene Levy plays the principal. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Olsen, Richardson and director Troy Miller; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; outtakes. ** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE MUSIC MAN": There's trouble in River City, Iowa, as Matthew Broderick assumes Robert Preston's trademark role of con man extraordinaire Harold Hill in this made-for-ABC 2003 production of the classic Meredith Willson musical. While selling local youngsters' parents on pricey musical instruments, Hill falls for librarian Marian (Kristin Chenoweth). Victor Garber ("Alias") and Molly Shannon ("Saturday Night Live") co-star; the classic songs in the score include "76 Trombones" and "Till There Was You." DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; extra, exclusive performance of "Till There Was You." *** (Not rated)

"GERRY": Matt Damon made his mark by writing the title role for himself in "Good Will Hunting," and he reunites with that film's director - Gus Van Sant - by turning actor-writer again with this drama. He collaborated with Van Sant and fellow star Casey Affleck on the script, a two-character piece about two men (both named Gerry) who get lost during a hiking excursion. As they try to find their way back to civilization, they ruminate on friendship and other matters. ** (R: P)

"THREE'S COMPANY: SEASON ONE": Fans of John Ritter undoubtedly will treasure this compendium of the sitcom's first year - which wasn't very long, since the Americanization of England's "Man About the House" was a midseason replacement that began in March 1977. Ritter appears in his signature role as Jack Tripper, the would-be chef who only gets to share an apartment with flighty Chrissy and sensible Janet (Suzanne Somers, Joyce DeWitt) by pretending to be gay. Norman Fell and Audra Lindley play the trio's landlords, the Ropers. *** (Not rated: AS)

"KING OF THE HILL: SEASON TWO": Hank Hill (voice of series co-creator Mike Judge) and his animated Texas family return in more tales of relative zaniness in this four-DVD set of the Fox show's 1997-98 episodes. The first tale makes Hank aware of his son Bobby's shooting skills when the two of them go to a firing range, so they enter a tournament together. Guest voices in the stories include Burt Reynolds, Chris Rock, Carl Reiner, Tammy Wynette, political strategist James Carville and Dale Earnhardt. DVD extras: audio commentary by various actors (as their "King of the Hill" characters) and staff members; introductions by episode directors; deleted and extended scenes; "making-of" documentaries; music videos; gallery. *** (Not rated: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"LARA CROFT: TOMB RAIDER - THE CRADLE OF LIFE" (Nov. 18): Angelina Jolie returns as the video-game character, taking big risks for another artifact. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE SANTA CLAUSE 2" (Nov. 18): Tim Allen returns as the latest Kris Kringle, who must find a new Mrs. Claus - and fast - in order to retain his place as Father Christmas. (G)

"SINBAD: LEGEND OF THE SEVEN SEAS" (Nov. 18): Brad Pitt, Michelle Pfeiffer and Catherine Zeta-Jones supply the principal voices in this animated adventure. (PG: V)

On TV

CBS movie dramatizes the Elizabeth Smart kidnapping

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Elizabeth Smart's abduction was shocking for its brazenness, and her rescue was just as startling.

A movie about the case was inevitable, and on Sunday, Nov. 9, CBS airs "The Elizabeth Smart Story." Amber Marshall ("The Christmas Shoes") stars as the teenager who was taken from her Salt Lake City bedroom on June 5, 2002. Her parents, Ed and Lois (portrayed by Dylan Baker and Lindsay Frost), made numerous media appearances pleading for her safe return.

Elizabeth's return home began March 13, 2003, when police acted on tips that she was seen with a man known as Emmanuel (played by Tom Everett). Actually named Brian David Mitchell, he had been identified by the lone witness to the kidnapping: Elizabeth's younger sister, Mary Katherine (Hannah Lochner). Hollis McLaren ("Atlantic City") co-stars as Mitchell's wife, Wanda Barzee, who also has been charged in the abduction.

Ed Smart confirms his family's phone barely stopped ringing with media offers once Elizabeth came home. "It wasn't anything we'd anticipated or thought about," he says. "The reason we ended up (agreeing to sell the movie rights) was because if we didn't do it, so many people were just going to take the story and run with it. Granted, there's no way to take a nine-month event and condense it into two hours without doing what Hollywood does, but we were anxious to have it done in a manner that really represented what happened."

The group selected by the Smarts included producers Frank von Zerneck, Robert Sertner ("We Were the Mulvaney's") and Patricia Clifford ("Death of a Salesman"). Barely familiar with the actor, Ed Smart was pleased that Dylan Baker ("Road to Perdition") played him. "He is a wonderful person, and we're very happy with the way he put his heart into making this happen," Smart says.

Reliable character actor Baker allows that he still has to audition for some parts, "but every now and then, something like 'The Elizabeth Smart Story' comes along where the makers approach me and say, 'We'd like you to do this.' At first, I was a little apprehensive. It felt like 'tabloid nation' time. Then once I realized that Ed and Lois Smart actually were involved, I knew it was something I wanted to be a part of.

"I was so lucky that Lindsay Frost and I instantly bonded," Baker adds. "And when we met our real-life counterparts, we had to say to each other, 'Hey, we kind of look like them.'"

Ed Smart says it was "very surreal" to be on the movie's Nova Scotia set "sitting there and watching someone else play you. It was hard to watch things you'd lived through being done over and over. You certainly get the idea of what happened."

At press time, a hearing on Barzee's competency was slated for early December, prior to the possible trial. Ed Smart prefers to avoid. Meanwhile, series such as "CSI: Miami" have done stories about youngsters taken from their homes. The episodes don't credit the Elizabeth Smart case, but most viewers can guess the real-life inspiration.

"Kidnappings go on all the time," Ed Smart reflects. "But, someone breaking into your house and taking your child is a parent's worst nightmare. The trauma is horrific."

You can buy this iron for $130. Or you can have it free.

Try my amazing 8-lb. vacuum free for 30 days, and my $130 Cordless Iron is your gift.

HI, I'M DAVID ORECK AND I WANT YOU TO CLEAN YOUR HOME FOR A MONTH ON ME ABSOLUTELY FREE. THERE'S NOTHING TO BUY, EVEN THE SHIPPING IS FREE!

My next generation Oreck XL® with the Violet Blue Dirt Search® is a giant step forward in American ingenuity. At barely 8 lbs., it takes the hard work out of house work. In fact, it has so many work-saving features you'll wonder why all vacuums aren't this thoroughly thought out. It features MicroSweep™ which lets you pick up sand off bare floors. It adjusts to every thickness of carpet, and automatically goes from carpets to bare floors. To really clean under beds and furniture, it lays flat. Our exclusive Helping Hand® Handle eliminates stress and strain on your wrist, forearm and elbow. Thanks to its top-fill design, it won't spew a cloud of dust every time you turn it on. Plus, my Oreck XL is hypo-allergenic, trapping 99.9% of all harmful allergens as small as 1/250th the diameter of a human hair. And odds are you'd go through three other vacuums in the time you own one 8-lb. Oreck XL.

WITH ORECK, YOU GET A COMPLETE SYSTEM.

For above-the-floor cleaning, I'll give you my $165 Super Compact Canister, with eight attachments, absolutely free with purchase of an Oreck XL. Hand held, or shoulder worn, this little dynamo is great for those hard-to-reach places, like ceilings, blinds, lampshades, and bookshelves.

IF YOU DON'T LOVE MY VACUUM, DON'T KEEP IT.
BUT KEEP THE $130 IRON.

My Oreck Cord Free Speed Iron® is a great work saver. You'll iron in much less time. And it's yours with no strings attached. Why do I give away gifts? It's simple. Nine out of 10 people who try an Oreck, buy an Oreck. So get your iron now, but hurry, this offer is limited.
